To Whom It May Concern,

I am providing this letter of reference for Stephen Braybrooke.

It has been my privilege to work alongside Stephen for the past nine years as a fellow director on the board of a non-profit organization. During that time, I have come to deeply appreciate Stephen's skills and abilities, as well as his tremendous work ethic.

Stephen is a very organized individual, with a focus on excellence. He is completely reliable and dependable, and his willingness to take leadership and see projects through to their successful completion has meant that Stephen has been a key factor in the progress of our organization.

I have observed Stephen take major responsibility for organizing community events involving several hundred participants, as well as personally providing excellent entertainment for events, including a number of events that featured the Prime Minister of Canada as the keynote speaker.

Stephen has substantial abilities in the areas of fundraising, promotions and marketing. He is an outstanding organizer who pays close attention to detail, and utilizes his ability to motivate others, as well.

Stephen has also been of great assistance to me in my role as a Member of Parliament, and I know he has provided his extraordinary event organizing skills assisting other MPs, Senators and MLAs, as well.

I cannot say enough about what an asset Stephen will be to any organization he chooses to provide his talents to. I therefore suggest you give him your serious consideration for any role he may be applying for.

Sincerely,

Russ Hiebert, B.A., M.B.A., LL.B
